OWER YOUNG TO MARRY YET -A Weath er-beaten old man of 62 and a sur-browned country girl of 12 aroused a great deal of intorest yesterday in the City Hall because the man wanted to marry the girl. The girl's mother, who was one of the party, consented thereto. Their inquiries after the "Equire" somehow led to their being directed to the City Hall police station. Ser-Was to be the bride and not the woman, as be had of course supposed. He informed the mother that she would be guity of a crime if she married her daughter, who gave her age as 12, to the old man. The woman declared that the gli was 14, and that she had been told that a girl could marry at that age with her mother's consent. But in answer to the sergeant, the child said that she did not want to marry the men, and the sergeant said that the law would not permit it if she did.

The interesting trio came from Orange The interesting trio came from Orange. In Jersey the age of consent used to be 12 years, but has been raised to 16. The would-be groom is Benjamin Mejer, a mason with a bank account. The woman is Mrs. Mary Munn. She was quite willing to marry him, herself, and he would have been satisfied, too. But her husband, though separated from her and in parts unknown, is supposed to be living. To have her daughter take him was her own idea, and she could not see where there was any wrong could not see where there was any wrong in getting a husband for the girl. The po-lice decided that the wisdom of a magistrate was necessary to settle the case. The man and woman were sent to the Oak street police station, and the girl was put in the charge of the Children's Society.—New York

SHAMEFUL GIFT TAKING .- John Wanemaker's gift of a $20,000 cottage at Cape May to Mrs. Berjamin Harrison, and the latter's prompt acceptance of the gratuity, easily make up the most shameful incident of an administration that has been more scandalous and disgraceful than anything that the country has seen since the escond

It is bad enough that John Wanamaker, who raised a gigantic corruption fund in 1888, should have been paid for his services by an appointment to the Cabinet, but it is even worse that he should characterize his official career by making such gifts to the wife of the man who placed him, and that without a blush. With this wretched example in high places we may look for a speedy revival of gift-giving and gif-aking. It is an easy descent from cottages by the sea to buil pups and packages of greet-

The tone of the Harrison administra was pitched lower than that of any other within the memory of the present generation. It entered office bound and gagged by the corrupt and vicious elements of the party. It has gone speedly from bad to worse. The gift-taking stage has now been reached. A year more and we shall hear of the sale of offices, a safe burglary or two, and probably a Credit Mobilier and a salary grab.—Chicago Herald.
